DOMINION STATUS OF INDIA

RELATIONS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND NATIVE STATES

THE OLIVE BRANCH

"INDIA SHOULD ENJOY EQUAL PARTNERSHIP"

Rugby, Yesterday.

Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, has made a statement which is published in India to-day regarding the extension of the scope of inquiry of the Indian Statutory Commission to include relations between India and the Indian States.

He says that Sir John Simon, Chairman of the Statutory Commission, has pointed out in his correspondence with the Premier that he and his colleagues have been greatly impressed in considering the future constitutional development of India with the importance of bearing in mind the relations which may develop between British India and the Indian States, and that in Sir John Simon's judgment it is essential that the methods whereby this future relationship between these two constituent parts of greater India may be adjusted should be fully examined.

MEASURE OF AGREEMENT

Sir John Simon has suggested that after the Statutory Commission and the Indian Central Committee have made their reports, the British Government shall meet representatives both of British India and the Indian States for the purpose of seeking the greatest possible measure of agreement for the final proposals which the British Government will later submit to Parliament.

Lord Irwin proceeds, "With these views I understand His Majesty's Government are in complete accord. The goal of British policy was stated in the declaration of August 1917 to be that of providing for the gradual development of self-governing institutions, with a view to the progressive realisation of a responsible Government in India as an integral part of the British Empire."

EQUAL PARTNERSHIP

"My own instrument of instructions from the King, Emperor, expressly states that it is His Majesty's will and pleasure that the plan laid by Parliament in 1919 should be the means whereby British India may attain its due place among His Dominions. The Ministers of the Crown, moreover, have more than once publicly declared that it is the desire of the British Government that India should in the fullness of time take her place in the Empire in equal partnership with the Dominions. But in view of doubts which have been expressed both in Great Britain and India regarding the interpretation to be placed on the intentions of the British Government in enacting the statute of 1919, I am authorised on behalf of His Majesty's Government to state clearly that, in their judgment, it is implicit in the declaration of 1917 that the natural issue of India's constitutional progress as there contemplated is the attainment of Dominion status."

FINDING THEIR PLACE

"In full realisation of this policy it is evidently important that the Indian States should be afforded opportunity of finding their place and, even if we cannot at present exactly foresee on what lines this development may be shaped, it is from every point of view desirable that whatever can be done should be done to ensure that the action taken now is not inconsistent with the attainment of the ultimate purpose which those, whether in British India or the States, who look forward to some unity of all India have in view."

TWO OBJECTS

"His Majesty's Government consider that both these objects, namely, that of finding the best approach to the British-Indian side of the problem and, secondly, of ensuring that in this process the wider question of direct relations in future between the two parts of the greater India is not overlooked, can best be achieved by the adoption of procedure such as Sir John Simon has outlined.

SETTLING THE PROBLEMS

"When, therefore, the Commission and the Indian Central Committee have submitted their reports and these have been published, and when His Majesty's Government have been able, in consultation with the Government of India, to consider these matters in the light of all material then available, they will propose to invite the representatives of different parties and interests in British India and representatives of the Indian States to meet them separately or together, as circumstances may demand, for the purpose of a conference and discussion in regard both to British-India and all Indian problems. It will be their earnest hope that by this means it may subsequently prove possible on these grave issues to submit proposals to Parliament which may command a measure of general assent.—British Wireless Service."

DOMINION STATUS ASKED

To Avert Threat of Mass Civil Disobedience

London, Yesterday.

It remains to be seen whether the Government's "olive branch" to India will avert the threat of the Nationalist Congress to indulge in mass civil disobedience and proclaim independence on Nov. 1, in the event of Dominion status not being granted this year.

Members of the Indian Central Committee interviewed by Reuters on their departure to India, expressed satisfaction at the latest development. Dr. Farnham, Liberal member of the India Council, who declined to co-operate with the Simon Commission, interviewed by Reuters in London said that the Viceroy's statement largely meets the Liberal viewpoint.

New Delhi, Yesterday.

The Viceroy, in his proclamation, forebodes a general Indian conference, and states that he is authorised on behalf of His Majesty's Government to state clearly that in their judgment it is implicit in the declaration of 1917 that the natural issue of India's constitutional progress is the attainment of Dominion status.

MINING PROPOSALS EFFECT

OWNERS WORRIED BY THEIR GRAVITY

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

London, Yesterday.

The miners and mine owners are meeting separately to-day to consider the Government's proposals, in connection with which an official statement is promised in the House of Commons to-night, but Mr. Philip Snowden, in reply to a question, declared that a statement was not yet possible, as negotiations were unfinished.

The coalowners stated that the proposals are so grave that they are unable to comment on them at present.

Cold Reception

The Government's coal mining proposals have had a cold reception. The coalowners criticise them for the effect they would have on Home export trade, while it is understood that the miners' Executive, in the course of a three hour conference with the Cabinet Coal Committee yesterday, criticised the absence of a definite assurance that the reduction of hours would not be accompanied by a reduction in wages, and the omission of any reference to pensions for aged miners, or a new minimum wage act as an alternative to national agreement and the deferment of the first instalment of hours reduction until April.—Reuters.

A TOOTHACHE TALE

Remarking that the accused had reversed the order of things in that, instead of having his teeth taken out by the dentist, he had taken teeth from the dentist, Mr. E. W. Hamilton to-day sentenced a Chinese to six months' hard labour for breaking into the premises of Mr. Li Yuk-chi, dentist, on the first floor of 263, Queen's-road West, and stealing 25 gold teeth worth $100.

The dentist was awakened by the creaking of the door and chased the accused, who was stopped by an Indian constable. He then dropped a small packet which was found to contain the gold teeth.

gress is the attainment of Dominion status.—Reuters.

FUNDAMENTAL CHANGES

Bombay, Yesterday.

A meeting of leaders of all shades of political opinion made a statement to the effect that the Viceroy's declaration in regard to Dominion status was satisfactory, and expressing appreciation of the fundamental change of procedure, whereby representatives of India were to be invited to the conference, and trusting that the representatives invited would be such as would command the confidence of the people of India.—Reuters.

SIR JOHN ANGRY

London, To-day.

It is generally believed that Sir John Simon does not approve of the Government's action in making a declaration before the Statutory Commission report. Also, it is understood that Conservative leaders as well as Liberals, disapprove of the Government action in making a statement at present.—Reuters.

PRESS COMMENT

London, To-day.

Lord Irwin's declaration in regard to the Dominion status of India has been given prominence in all the newspapers, whose comments are varied, while the "Times" says that the statement reveals no change of policy.

The "Morning Post" professes bewilderment, and the "Daily Telegraph" feels that reference to the ultimate aim of British policy is by no means unnecessary.

Some newspapers assert that Mr. Baldwin firstly approved the declaration, but afterwards withdrew his approval under pressure of his colleagues. It is also stated that all the Simon Commissioners opposed the declaration, but the rumour that Sir John Simon is contemplating resigning is authoritatively denied.

It is declared that there is every prospect that the difficulties will be adjusted, and the Commission complete its work.—Reuters.

"LEAVE SMUGGLING ALONE"

ADVISED TO STICK TO SEAMAN-LIKE DUTIES

MAGISTRATE'S HOMILY

When a Chinese woman was to-day charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton with the unlawful possession of opium.

MOSCOW PROTEST

Yen 1,400,000 Paid To White Russians

Tokyo.

The Foreign Office in Moscow has delivered a formal protest to the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Tanaka, in Moscow regarding the payment of sum amounting to about Yen 1,400,000 by the Yokohama Specie Bank for Yokohama to representatives of Michael Podgagin, former Soviet military attaché in Tokyo, and Ataman Semenov, the White Russian leader, it was understood at the Russian Embassy here to-day.

The Foreign Office requested the Ambassador to transmit the protest to Tokyo for the consideration of the Japanese Foreign Office.

No other action, it was understood, has been taken in the case. The Embassy claims the money belonged to the Government of the U.S.S.R., as it was Russian State funds. The sum was deposited in the bank by Podgagin as an agent of the former White Russian regime in Siberia.

Ataman Semenov, it was reported, still was at his residence in Yokohama.—Special News Service.

Revenue Officer Grimmitt, who prosecuted, told the Magistrate that the woman had made to him. She did not know the man's name but said that he was known on board the ship as "Mok Kwa Chai" (Little Papaya).

He found that there were two brothers working on board both known by the nickname of "Mok Kwa Chai," one was the pilot and the other a quartermaster. He had arrested both.

The Magistrate directed that both men be charged.

When the case resumed, the two men appeared in dock with the woman. Their names were given as Chau Wing (pilot) and Chau Sai (quartermaster).

"Doubtful"

Mr. E. W. Hamilton, Jun., who appeared for the woman, said that he had been instructed to plead "guilty" on her behalf.

Mr. Grimmitt expressed himself as "doubtful." The woman was the wife of the postman and when he approached him yesterday and asked

TRAFFIC IN OPIUM

SEIZURES REVEAL HEAVY TRADE

IN SHANGHAI

$50,000 IN RAW DRUGS TAKEN SINCE JAN. 1.

Shanghai, Yesterday.

Evidence of the existence of unusual heavy trafficking in opium was revealed in statistics released to-day at the local Maritime Customs offices. More than 10 tons of the raw drug, worth approximately $500,000, have been seized by the Customs authorities since the first of the current year up to October 1, according to the figures, and this amount will probably reach a million before the year is over if the large seizures made from June to October are to be accepted as criterions.

This figure does not include $16,000 worth of morphia, opium pills and smoking paraphernalia seized up to the first of the present month nor does it include 149 kilos of morphia and 8,600 pounds of opium seized since the first of the month and now being held by the Customs authorities.

According to Customs officials, opium smuggling on the Yangtze River during the past few months has shown a large increase in comparison with the early months of 1929. From December 19 to March 19, approximately 2,900 pounds of the raw drug were taken and confiscated, while during the second quarter, March 19 to June 19, the amount confiscated was nearly double being a matter of approximately 5,000 pounds.

The biggest seizures of the year have been made during the past two months. During July, August and the first half September, more than 13,000 pounds were confiscated. The seizure of 8,900 pounds during the present quarter indicates that the figures for the preceding period will be greatly exceeded unless a sudden decline occurs in the opium smuggling business up the river.

MANY METHODS USED

The methods of packing and bringing opium into the city are many, according to the Customs officials although the majority of smugglers follow one general system of transportation. In most cases, the drug is brought to points on the Yangtze River just outside the jurisdiction of the harbour police and there dumped into junk or sampans. The smaller vessels, which have a better chance of entering the harbour unmolested, bring the opium the rest of the way to Shanghai and deliver it into the hands of local dealers. As a usual thing, the drug, when it reaches Shanghai, is packed in small, flat parcels weighing about three pounds each.

The present illicit sale value of raw opium is about $29 per pound when it reaches Shanghai. After the refining process, in which the raw drug is converted into smoking opium, the price per pound doubles.

ed him if he was going to allow his wife to go to jail, the man merely shrugged his shoulder and said: "It is her business, let her go to jail." It looked as if they were all in the "game."

Plea Accepted

The Magistrate said that as the woman had undertaken all responsibility he had no option but to accept her plea, and he could not do less than to pass the full penalty on her—a fine of $3,600, or, in default, 12 months' hard labour.

Addressing the two men, his Worship said that he did not know to what extent they were concerned in the smuggling of this opium, and as the woman had undertaken responsibility, they must be discharged.

However, Mr. Hamilton advised the men to stick to their seaman-like duties in future, and leave smuggling alone.

Revenue Department would keep their eyes on them now and they would soon be brought to book if they persisted.

APPEAL TO EMPEROR OF JAPAN

REACTIONARY BREAKS FROM THE CROWDS

SCENE AT ROYAL VISIT

Tokyo, Yesterday.

While the Emperor was proceeding to the Meiji Shrine stadium for the purpose of attending an athletic meeting for the first time since his accession to the throne, a youth belonging to a reactionary organisation jumped from the crowd and attempted to make a direct appeal, but was arrested before reaching the Imperial car. The Police are examining the matter, but the nature of the appeal has not yet been revealed.—Reuters.

DRIVEN TO STEAL BY POVERTY

CHINESE WHO COMMITTED LARCENY BY A TRICK

SIX GOLD WATCHES

How a Chinese committed a larceny by a trick was told by Inspector E. Hoare at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when an unemployed Chinese was charged with the attempted larceny of six gold watches, valued at $54 the property of a shop keeper of 38, Queen's Road West.

The defendant stated that poverty had driven him to steal.

Copying "Dapper Dan"

Inspector Hoare said that the defendant went into the shop and ordered the watches, telling the shopkeeper that if he sent a fox of the sheep with him to Shamshui he would obtain the money for his purchase.

Parcel Changes Hands

They both got on the Shamshui Ferry and half way across the harbour, defendant (who had a parcel with him) asked the fox if he could let him carry the watches while he held the so-called valuable parcel.

A passenger saw the parcels actually change hands and the defendant put the watches in his pocket.

On arrival at their destination the defendant took the fox for an indefinite walk around the streets until they reached a shipyard, where the defendant said he would find the man who had promised him the money. But no such man appeared, and suspicion overcame the fox, who, on seeing an Indian Police Sergeant, had the defendant arrested and taken to the station.

Only a Box

Mr. Whyte-Smith remarked that although it was the defendant's first offence, it was rather a serious one and he would therefore sentence him to six weeks' hard labour.

Inspector Hoare told the Magistrate that the "valuable" parcel was only a square wooden box, shaped like a cigar box with two small nails in it.

BRITAIN & SOVIET

Resumption of Diplomatic Relations

Rugby, Yesterday.

Mr. Philip Snowden, acting leader of the House of Commons, stated to-day that it had been arranged that the Premier should make a statement on his visit to the United States and Canada next Tuesday. After the Premier's statement had been disposed of the House would consider the motion in the name of the Foreign Secretary concerning the resumption of normal diplomatic relations with the Soviet Government.—British Wireless Service.

REDUCTION OF BANK RATE SURPRISE

EXCITING MOVEMENTS IN NEW YORK STOCKS

PACE TOO HOT TO LAST

London, Yesterday.

Even the bankers were taken unawares by the reduction in the bank rate, which was immediately followed by an influx of orders. The Stock Exchange welcomed the relief, and both financial and industrial circles thought that the reduction was probably the outcome of co-operation with New York. It is anticipated that the New York Federal Bank will shortly follow suit.—Reuters.

Spectacular Scenes

New York, Yesterday.

To-day's delayed opening in the Stock Market was one of the most spectacular ever witnessed. Scores of stocks opened from five to 20 points up; 2,750,000 shares changed hands in the first half hour, but the pace was too hot to last, and within half an hour stocks had lost half their gains.

Welcome Surprise

Rugby, Yesterday.

The decision of the Directors of the Bank of England to reduce the bank rate from six and a half to six per cent. came as a welcome surprise to financial circles, where it had not been expected that the rate would fall for some little time yet.

When the rate increased by one per cent. on September 26 it was explained that this was due to the continued withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England. In fifteen weeks the Bank had lost more than $30,000,000 in gold to the Continent and America.

Obviously, the raising of the rate has had the intended effect of stopping the flight of gold.

Another factor that made a lower bank rate possible was the slump in New York. This has sent much gold back to England.

When the decision became known there was a general marking up of prices, particularly of British Government securities.—British Wireless Service.

Stocks Steady

New York, Later.

Despite the violence of the day's movements, stocks held fairly well all day long, although most closed below the day's highest levels. Selling was well absorbed and the atmosphere at the close was bullish.

Bullish Factor

Besides the decrease in the bank rate, another bullish factor was the stock market weekly report which showed a record decrease of over a billion dollars in brokers' loans.—Reuters's American Service.

CHINA AND THE FUTURE*A HISTORY OF ACTIONS, RE-ACTIONS,
AND OF PROGRESS*A MODERN NATION*ALLEGIANCE WITHOUT FAMILY OBSTRUCTION

Plus ça change plus c'est la même chose.

These words of a famous French writer might be used to sum up all the adverse criticisms directed against China. But such unsound criticisms are always due to the critics' lack of vision, and their inability to see beyond the objects immediately before their eyes. For the history of the Chinese Republic, if one takes a comprehensive view of it, is emphatically the history of progress, though, when examined in small, separate portions it may be called a history of actions and reactions.

BY HS U MOH

[Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Kiangsu.]

We may compare the public mind in this country to the ocean when the tide is rising. Each successive wave rushes forward, breaks, and rolls back; but the great flood is steadily coming on. A person who looked on the waters for a moment might fancy that they were retiring, or a person who looked on them for five minutes might fancy that they were rushing capriciously to and fro; but if he keeps his eye on them for a quarter of an hour, and sees one sea-mark disappear after another, it is impossible for him to doubt the general direction which the ocean is moving.

The Recoll
Just such has been the course of events in this country. In the history of the national mind, we must make a careful distinction between that recoil which usually follows every advance, and a great general ebb. If we take a particular year of the Chinese Republic, we may perhaps find a retrogression, or if we examine any particular phase of her national life, we may be inclined to think that greater improvement could be made with regard to that phase. But if we look at the history of China ever since the establishment of the Republic and if we take note of all the manifestations of the spirit of the modern Chinese, we cannot possibly mistake in what direction China is proceeding.

Two Differences
The fundamental differences between a modern nation and an ancient state are two. The former is characterized by organization; the latter by conglomeration; the unity of the former is the individual, that of the latter is the family. The power of a modern nation is derived from organization which is, in turn, based upon science. It is also derived from the direct allegiance of citizens to the state without the obstruction of the family, which is often the cause of the divided loyalties of the citizens of an ancient state. Now if we look at the present-day China from these angles, we shall see clearly that China has turned a new page in her history and has acquired the attributes of a modern nation.

What is a Nation?
These attributes have been stated by Renan in his classical essay on "what is a nation," but, strange to say, the most important one did not receive any consideration by that famous writer, although, judging from his scientific proclivities, he would have made mention of that necessary constituent, Machiavelli. However, with a profound understanding of what the Germans call "Realpolitik," fully realized the importance of organization, and, in comparing France and Germany in the 16th century, he pointed out that while the German states excelled France in social power, the French were vastly preponderant in political power at home and military power abroad. And the secret, we are told, lies in the better organization of all the resources of France at that time. During the Great War, a German military genius brought to the attention of the German people that success or failure of a military campaign does not depend upon mere military strategy or military prowess, but upon the capability of prolonged warfare which, in the last analysis, depends upon the organization of all the resources of the whole country.

Organization
Now, it is this power of organization on a national scale that is being developed in China in every field of activity and it is this power of organization that explains the success of the Northern Expedition and the firm establishment of the National Government. The Kuomintang, again, is a marvelous example of what an important factor has organization become in Chinese politics and how collective bers, tends to diminish their loyalty to the state.

Conflicts
Consequently, in ancient times, conflicts frequently arose between the duties of an individual towards the state and the family and although the state would often make every effort to secure the loyalty of its citizens, the task was rendered difficult by finding in the family a powerful rival. Modern China, therefore in diminishing the importance of the family, has succeeded in removing a powerful rival and has consequently secured the loyalty of its citizens, which makes collective effort possible and patriotism a reality.

Scientific Basis
With the individual as its unit, China is thus organized not only on a scientific basis, but also on a basis that is psychological. The qualities associated with individualism such as individual responsibility, self reliance and the spirit of adventure, will, from this time on, have a greater opportunity for development and will react vitally on the national character of China. What now remains to be done is the training of the masses according to the principles laid down by our late leader Dr. Sun Yat-sen, and, when these principles have been carried out, then will China begin to play a very important part in the Family of Nations and make a distinct contribution to civilization.

MR. WU FANKwangsi's Representative
Leaves Canton

Canton, Yesterday.

Mr. Wu Fan, the representative of Kwangsi's Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the 8th Army, Luo Woon-yim, received orders to proceed to Canton from Wuchow by the aeroplane "Kwangchau" as previously reported.

When Mr. Wu came down to Canton, he was followed by his wife, and the superintendent of the Wuchow Customs, Mr. Lui Tsong-yin, on October 26.

In the last few days visits were paid to General Chan Chai-long and Chairman Chan Ming-shu to discuss Kwangsi's military affairs.

As he has to proceed to Kwangsi to help Mr. Lui to settle the affairs of that province, he is unable to stay longer in Canton.

A reporter yesterday made inquiries of Mr. Wu as to the date of his return.

Mr. Wu stated that he had come down to make a report on the situation and providing no delay arose he had decided to leave for Kwangsi on the 31st with Mr. Lui Tsong-yin and with his family.—Canton News Agency.

Jenkin, for the defence, continued the cross-examination of Wong Sook-to, partner in the Wing Hing tailor's shop, who is complainant in a case against another partner named Yau Ka-wai, who is charged with the alleged embezzlement of capital funds of the firm, and with the forgery of a Chinese borrowing note.

Torn Leaves
Several torn leaves from account books, which the witness said he found in a paper basket, were referred to. With regard to a leaf which had been extracted from what is known as the "inner counter" book, Mr. Jenkin said: "You thought it came from the 1929 book but you found it, instead, in the 1928 book?"—Yes.

Do you suggest that the fact that the leaf was torn out from the 1929 book was any indication of fraud on the part of the defendant?—If that leaf had come from that book, the entries did not correspond with those which appeared in the book.

Witness added that he did not suggest anything fraudulent on this paper. But the entries made with

SPENDING PUBLIC MONEY*SUPPLEMENTAL VOTES DULY APPROVED*INTERNATIONAL HEALTH

Votes amounting to $23,173 were approved by the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday, to supplement the expenditure for 1929.

In regard to a vote of $302 to the Office International Publique, Paris, the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton asked what this was for.

The Chairman (Colonial Secretary, Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, C.M.G.)—It is a very old-established body and works in connection with the League of Nations.

Hon. Sir Henry Pollock.—Is it an annual contribution?

The Chairman.—I can let you have all the information about it.

Hon. Mr. Shenton.—Your explanation that it is an old institution and that we have subscribed previously is sufficient.

The Chairman.—It was established in 1903. The Committee is recognized as an advisory health council to the League of Nations. It is a larger and a more representative body than the League's health organization.

At present there is only one British member on the Health Committee of the League of Nations while on the Committee of the Office International, whether acting independently or as an advisory health council of the League the absence of representatives with experience of British colonial medicine and tropical diseases tends to make the representation of the British Empire one-sided and deficient. There are strong arguments in favour of British representation. Its original object as described in the resolution was briefly to collect and collate information as to the progress of infectious diseases and to publish periodical reports of its work. Representation would involve the payment of fifteen units equivalent to 9,375 gold francs, which may be roughly estimated at $375.

It was thought that the best arrangement would be to invite some of the larger colonies and those which are most likely to be interested in the work of the Office to contribute an equal share of the subscription. Promises of contributions of approximately $25 per annum have already been obtained from Ceylon, Nigeria, Straits Settlements and Kenya and the Secretary of State desires to know whether the Hong Kong Government will be prepared to contribute this sum or slightly more. If this arrangement can be completed it is contemplated that the representation of the colonies on the permanent committee should be undertaken in the first instance by Sir William Frut.

Hon. Mr. Shenton.—That is from the Secretary of State.

The Chairman.—Yes. Apparently we did subscribe before. I think it is well worth it.

regard to one Leung Fan-pak did not appear in the book which he saw that night.

In the course of answering further questions, the witness said that the first entry in the torn leaf referred to only $6,000, whereas the book disclosed $10,000.

The examination of this witness again occupied the entire sitting and a further adjournment was given.

EVERSHARP Leads and Erasers

For your Eversharp pencil, Eversharp Red Top lead is the only lead that really fits. Though all leads look alike, tiny differences in diameter are enough to make other leads wobble and slip, or jam in the tip of the pencil. Red Top leads come in all necessary degrees of hardness and in all colors. When your present Eversharp eraser becomes worn, it takes only a few seconds to replace it with a new one. Eversharp erasers are made of new, live rubber and give a clean, smudge-less erasure. If your Eversharp dealer can supply you with Eversharp erasers and Red Top leads.

NEW ORDINANCES PASSED

REGISTRATION OF LOCAL MUI TSAIS

DISCUSSION IN COUNCIL

Seven Ordinances were passed by the Legislative Council yesterday, being read a second time, (then considered clause by clause in committee), read a third time, and passed as follows:—

An Ordinance to amend the Female Domestic Service Ordinance, 1923.

An Ordinance to make provisions with respect to the British Mercantile Marine Uniform.

An Ordinance to amend the Uniforms Ordinance, 1895.

An Ordinance to amend the Protection of Women and Girls Ordinance, 1897.

An Ordinance to amend the Watchmen Ordinance, 1928.

An Ordinance to amend the Industrial Employment of Children Ordinance, 1922.

An Ordinance to provide for the incorporation of the Trustees of the Charter Masonic Scholarships Fund.

The following discussion took place in connection with the Female Domestic Service Ordinance when an amended section was made to read:—

"No person shall hereafter bring, or cause to be brought any mui tsai into the Colony."

Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga.—As regards this clause, is it the intention of the Government that a master of a river boat should be made liable to the penalties under this Ordinance if he were to bring a mui tsai into the Colony without acknowledging he was bringing such mui tsai.

The Attorney General (Hon. Sir Joseph Kemp, C.B.E., K.C.).—No, the presumption is that any prohibition contains an assumption that the offender has guilty knowledge. In other words, in order to obtain a conviction under the clause we have to show that the person charged had guilty knowledge. The master of a ship would probably have no guilty knowledge and is therefore not liable to any penalty.

Hon. Mr. Braga.—As at present provided, the amended clause may be construed as meaning any person bringing a mui tsai into the Colony, and to remove that ambiguity I would suggest that the Hon. Attorney General should so word the section as to exclude any master of a river boat bringing a mui tsai into the Colony without the knowledge that such mui tsai was travelling in his boat to Hong Kong.

H.E. the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G.).—Would it not in that case be equally necessary to put in some proviso covering, say, the case of a driver of a train, or the driver of a motor car, or the master of a junk? I think that what the Attorney General has said on the subject is quite clear. No one can be convicted under the section unless it is shown he has guilty knowledge. Of course, if the master of a ship or driver of a train or the driver of a motor car, or whoever he may be, had guilty knowledge he would probably be convicted. I cannot myself believe that a prosecution would be brought against the master of a ship unless there was very good ground for believing that he had guilty knowledge.

In making another sub-section read:—

"No person shall without lawful authority or excuse have in his employment, custody or control any unregistered mui tsai."

The Attorney General said.—The effect of that will be to put in the principal Ordinance a section saying that no person may have an unregistered mui tsai in his custody

"WILD BUT NOT A GOOSE"

DR. & MRS. FAWCETT HONOURED BY SANITARY STAFF

NAME ON A PAGODA

"Health for all Mankind" is the slogan of Dr. H. A. Fawcett, and only those who know him intimately can realise how hard he has worked to live up to it.

A "China Mail" reporter was in his office only the other day, and the doctor showed him several illustrated posters circulated by the health authorities in the Straits Settlements, Shanghai, and other countries. Turning to the reporter, he said mournfully, "We need something like this in Hong Kong, but so far nothing has been done."

Dr. Fawcett was making a sketch of a Chinese baby. It was a pretty thing with a tuft of hair on the head, a red jacket and a blue vest—in fact a typical Chinese baby. "How do you like my Chinese baby," he asked. He then explained that he was going to use it as a poster and would add in Chinese: "Have your baby vaccinated."

Farewell Gathering

He is held in high esteem by his colleagues and by members of the Sanitary Department staff. He and Mrs. Fawcett were honoured last night at the Lane, Crawford's Restaurant, when a dance was given by the staff of the Sanitary Department.

It was a very enjoyable gathering and was very largely attended. Mrs. W. J. Carrie, wife of the head of the Sanitary Department, took the opportunity of presenting to Dr. and Mrs. Fawcett, on behalf of the staff of the Sanitary Department, a blackwood tray, inlaid with a silver junk, with pagoda and a pair of birds in the background.

In a witty speech, Mr. Carrie said that they were all sorry that Dr. Fawcett was leaving them. They would see four Chinese characters on the tray, which meant "Top of the Wild Goose Pagoda."

Dr. Fawcett, he said, might be wild—(laughter)—but he certainly was not a goose. (Renewed laughter.)

The proper meaning of those characters was, Mr. Carrie explained, that in ancient days, when a Chinese passed his Royal Examination, he generally had his name inscribed on the top tier of the pagoda, and the words therefore meant that the person receiving the gift had had his name inscribed on high.

Kindness and Help

Dr. Fawcett, in reply, said that he was still hazy as to the true meaning of the characters inscribed on the tray. He could not believe what he had been told until he had it confirmed by a Chinese friend. (Laughter.)

After thanking them for their magnificent gift, Dr. Fawcett said that whatever might have induced him to leave the Colony, it had nothing to do with his friends present. In fact, their kindness and help to him had made it very sad for him to leave them. "When I look round, when I try to review our many accomplishments together in the cause of health, I realise that returning to my country is not such a joy as I anticipated. There is sadness in all goings; even when we feel we owe little to the place we leave. Perhaps wherever the caravan has rested it leaves something behind."

I hope in my case it is more than the ashes of a camp fire."

The speaker went on to say that the work of Health Officers was often unpleasant and unappreciated, but he was glad to think that to have saved one life was to have exchanged a tear for a smile. "To have saved one hour's suffering; to have let in one beam of light to some hopeless human being, one tinge of colour to a pale cheek, is a thing worth while to accomplish. It is more than great; it is almost Divine. In fact, you all are the disciples of the finest Gospel on earth—health for all mankind."

or control. The object of the amendment is this; without that amendment the Ordinance would contain two provisions, firstly, that every employer of a mui tsai who is in the Colony when Part III comes into force must register that mui tsai, and secondly, that no person must hereafter bring in any mui tsai to the Colony. If we should, say, a year hence find in someone's employment an unregistered mui tsai we should not be able to prove if she was here at the commencement of Part III or whether she was imported after the commencement of this Ordinance. We should therefore not know under which of these two provisions to prosecute. I think it is advisable to have in the Ordinance a simple prohibition with regard to the finding of any unregistered mui tsai in anyone's possession and prosecution could be taken under this new proposed sub-section.

GRAPPLING WITH THE RACING 'EVIL'

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT TO REDUCE MEETINGS

UNDESIRABLE

TWO COURSES TO LOSE THEIR LICENCES

Great interest has been aroused throughout Australia by the attempt of the Victorian State Government to grapple with the racing evil. The enormous economic and moral injury to the community caused by too much racing has long been a most serious problem especially in Melbourne and Sydney. The great clubs like the Victoria Racing Club which conducts the Melbourne Cup, and the Australian Jockey Club, its prototype in Sydney, are not responsible for this. The evil has been caused by politicians who have permitted the growth of mid-week, and the so-called "pony" racing which attracts men from work during working hours, and provide a rendezvous for every kind of undesirable.

NOT PERMITTED

Sir Wm. McPherson's Government has decided to reduce the number of race meetings in Melbourne by 40 per year making the total number 103, and there will be 300 less in the country districts. Two pony, and two minor metropolitan courses are to lose their licences, and there will be less racing at Flemington and Caulfield, the two principal Melbourne courses. Racing will not be permitted on any Monday which is not a public holiday. The V.R.C. will lose one of its 16 racing days. Although inadequate the bill is an honest attempt to mitigate what has grown to be a great social evil in Australia.

AN EXCUSE FOR GAMBLING

Gambling on horses has thousands in its thrall, and although betting is not permitted except on registered racecourses, every centre of population has its illicit "starting price" bookmakers who literally hold thousands in economic bondage. The greatest harm is done by pony racing which operates mainly on week-days. The term "pony" is a misnomer because these races are not limited to ponies. The horses attracted to these courses are of a poor quality for the most part, and have no other object than to provide an excuse for gambling. Consequently the plea which can be urged in favour of clubs like the V.R.C. that they conduct a sport which improves the standard of horses, does not apply here.

LEGITIMATE RACING

Legitimate horse racing has done much to make the Australian water famous in other parts of the world. For generations a valuable trade with India in cavalry remounts has flourished, testifying to the great qualities of the Australian horse. But the class of horse which races on minor Australian courses is hardly worth feeding. The Victorian Government's bill will arouse intense opposition in Parliament in which the interests which operate dubious race meetings are strongly represented, but public conscience on this question must ultimately prevail, and the action taken by the McPherson Government should prove the forerunner of a nationwide reform.

AUSTRALIAN PRODUCTION

Australia's production in all recorded industries in 1927-28 aggregated £453,311,000, averaging £73-9-6 per head of population, according to the Commonwealth statistician. In the agricultural, pastoral and dairying industries, 422,610 workers were employed. The value of primary production was £259,585,000. The area under crop in 1927-28, 19,219,394 acres, was the greatest ever recorded, exceeding the previous record of 1915-16 by 691,160 acres, but the average return per acre dropped from £5-10-7 to £4-7-8.

During the year the number of sheep declined from 104,267,101 to 100,827,476, and the wool production from 924,000,000 lb. to 880,000,000 lb. Notwithstanding this decline, higher prices for wool prices made the season one of the best on record.

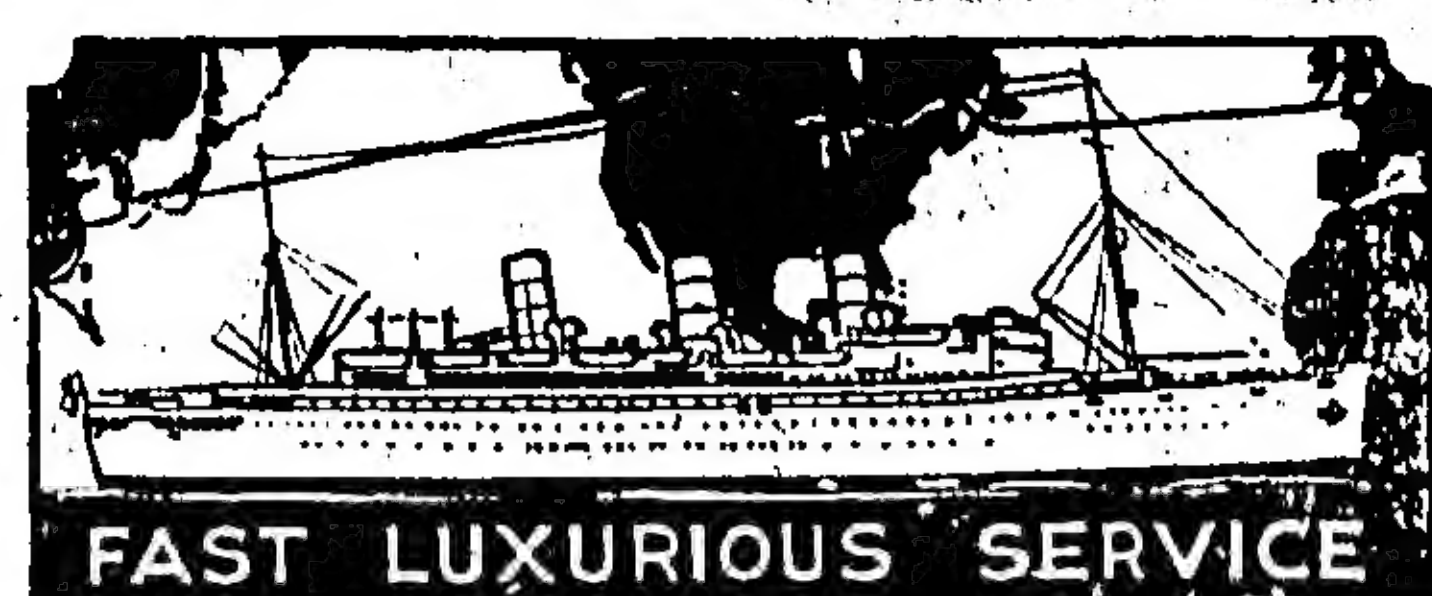

The total value of pastoral production was £125,068,000, of which wool accounted for £75,634,000. The area alienated in 1927-28 was 179,125,000 acres, slightly more than nine per cent; 970,604,000 acres or 51 per cent were held under lease, and 754,003,000 acres were still held by the Crown.

NEW ARCHBISHOP

After many months of consideration, the Archbishopric Election Board has invited Canon F. W. Head of Liverpool, England, to become Anglican Archbishop of Melbourne. Canon Head who is described as a Liberal Evangelical, has accepted and will arrive in Melbourne in December, after a flying visit to Canada.

The appointment has been made from the Church in England, despite a letter signed by 103 clergymen of the Archdiocese praying that favourable consideration be (Continued on Page 8.)

BIRKENHEAD DOCK

Electrically Controlled
Bridge

When it is completed in the spring or early summer months next year, the new bridge across the Birkenhead docks at Duke Street will be the first electrically-controlled on the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board's estate on the Cheshire side. Workmen are making excavations on the Birkenhead side of the bridge in readiness for the controlling machinery, and in the meantime only one-way traffic is possible, constables being posted at either end of the bridge controlling the traffic.

The new bridge, which is being built by Sir William Arrol and Co., Ltd. of Glasgow, will cost £41,700, and will be of the bascule type. It will have a single span of 100 feet, and will be raised and lowered by two electric motors, each of 45 h.p. The total weight, including 750 tons of ballast, will be 1,100 tons.

The roadway will be 23 feet 6 inches in width, with two sets of rail tracks, and will be much wider than the present roadway. On either side there will be a footpath 5 feet wide for pedestrians. Another innovation will be automatically operated gates which will close the roadway to traffic when the bridge is being raised.

CARGO BRISK

L. Everett Sees Greater
Demand for Bottoms

Manila, October 26.
Leonard Everett, president of the shipping firm bearing his name, returned on the "Empress of Asia" from four months' inspection trip of his company's branches in Hong Kong, Shanghai, Kobe and Yokohama.

Upon arrival Mr. Everett commented on the good cargo movement now evident throughout the Far East. He said that following two slack months, demand for bottoms began to increase to such an extent that all ships for which his company are agents have been booked in advance. The increased cargo movement is a healthy indication that trade in the Orient is picking up in spite of troubles in China, he said.

With Mr. Everett also arrived B. Butler, of Seattle. Mr. Butler came here to join the local office of the L. Everett, Inc., where he will become assistant general manager. "Manila Bulletin."

The vessel is fitted with one-trial installation throughout, the winches, windlass and steering gear being operated electrically. She is fitted with Duxford opposed piston reversible oil engines; speed 14 knots in service.

KIEL CANAL TRAFFIC

A report received by the Department of Overseas Trade from the British Consul-General at Hamburg states that the volume of traffic through the Kiel Canal during February was the smallest on record, the decrease being again attributable to the severe ice conditions throughout the month. The number of vessels was 283 only, of which 266 were registered as sea-going steamers aggregating 475,237 tons net, 215 were cargo and passenger vessels aggregating 171,699 tons, 47 tugs of 3,007 tons, 4 fishing steamers of 291 tons, 5 sailing vessels of 434 tons, 4 lighters and barges of 2,528 tons, and 8 naval and service vessels of 2,978 tons.

TRAMS MUST GO!

In the motoring section of the "China Mail" yesterday there appeared a brief article with the above heading narrating the experience of Wolverhampton in its policy of replacing trams by trolley buses. Wolverhampton has for six years been following the policy of conversion from trams to buses, and only now has the last tram track been pulled up and trolley buses substituted. That city now claims to have the largest bus undertaking in the world so far as route mileage is concerned.

There is room for thought for the traffic authorities as well as for the general public in this Colony. The principle must ever be kept to the forefront that quick vehicles go to the centre of the thoroughfare, but that their speed is necessarily regulated by that of the slowest vehicle. But when a tram stops, everything else stops. Traffic generally is dislocated, and the travelling public is inconvenienced. Then, it has to be remembered that repairs to tram rails involve a further hindrance to other traffic, which is often most undesirable when time may mean not only money but the saving of life.

Trams cannot be diverted in emergencies. There was the striking instance of the King Edward Hotel fire. Buses could proceed by Queen's Road or the Praya, but the trams were stopped for some hours, as they also were on the occasion of the Hong Kong Hotel fire nearly four years ago. Moreover, trams are noisy and cumbersome. And their utility in times of strikes and similar local upheavals is negligible compared with that of buses, which latter can be pressed into service in a variety of ways making for the greater convenience of the community. In busy streets there is a greater danger in crossing to the pavements from a tramcar. How few have the "traffic sense" instilled in them to make it a habit to look behind, when alighting from a tram, for other oncoming traffic? It is possible that trams may be good for long distances in rural districts, but even there the experience of to-day favours the more mobile buses with their much greater degree of comfort. Now that large capacity buses are being built, just as many people can be carried in them in quicker time. Hence the Home papers—as in the report of Wolverhampton's conversion from trams to buses—are continually giving prominence to similar replacements all over the country.

In a Colony like Hong Kong, with its congested and narrow streets on the island at any rate, and with its ever growing population, it looks as if the era of tramcars is likewise doomed. Traffic reform will demand that gradually the trams should be replaced by buses. How they have outlived their usefulness can be demonstrated on the occasion of every race meeting and football match, or, indeed, of any big concourse at the Happy Valley or North Point. Loop lines are limited in their actual utility. And in the case of a breakdown in one tramcar the whole tram service is dislocated for some time—again to the inconvenience of the travelling public!

As the utility and convenience of the buses rapidly outweigh those of the trams, so will the community become more "bus-minded." Traffic problems must be tackled as soon as they arise. They do not allow of a drifting policy that spells mere retrogression—sheer obstinacy in clinging to the ideas of past generations. "Facts are chiefs that winna ding" is a true enough saying of traffic as of most other local problems. Any extension of the tram service in the Island is unthinkable. Not only so, but there must be an evolution—gradual though it may be—in the direction of replacing trams by buses. And, naturally enough, any facilities for the extension of bus services must be given to the company that cast aside all other considerations except the convenience of the public during the crisis of four years ago.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mr. V. Rupchand informs us that owing to Great Devali holiday, the Pioneer Silk Store will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. to-day.

London, Yesterday.—In the House of Commons to-day the second reading of the Widows' and Old Age Pensions Bill was passed.—Reuter.

Paris, Yesterday.—M. Clementel has abandoned the idea of forming a Cabinet, and the task has been placed before M. Tardieu.—Reuter.

Absenting themselves from Kowloon Court this morning two Chinese who were charged with cruelty to ducks by putting them in a crate that had no matting, had their bail of $10 each estraited.

Admitting that he had stolen an iron bar valued at $2, from a coal-yard in Waterloo-road, a Chinese was at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning fined $10 with the alternative of 14 days' hard labour.

A special thanksgiving service will be held at St. John's Cathedral on Sunday morning in connection with the sixtieth birthday of the Diocesan Boys' School. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. T. Featherstone, head master of the school.

The wedding will take place at St. John's Cathedral, at 3 p.m., to-morrow, of Miss Jessie To, niece of Dr. and Mrs. Coxson To, and Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam, Barrister-at-Law. A reception will afterwards be held at "Villa Magnolia," 196, Sassoon-road.

The six Chinese men arraigned on charges of robbery at 869, Canton-road, the Kwa Ki Firewood shop, on October 7, made another appearance before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. His Worship fixed November 22, 23 and 24 for the hearing of the case.

Captain Mackenzie, master of the s.s. "Charles Hardouin," has reported a case of alleged suicide at sea to the Police. According to him, whilst the vessel was on a voyage from Canton to Hong Kong, a Chinese passenger named Li Wing-on (20) jumped overboard and was drowned.

Tsang So (26) was at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning charged with returning to the Colony before his banishment term had expired, having been deported from the Colony on Sept. 30 this year for a period of five years. Sentence of 8 months' hard labour and 15 strokes of the birch was passed.

Having served 10 days' imprisonment just a year ago for unlawful possession, a Chinese was to-day at the Kowloon Magistracy charged with the theft of a coconut broom from a wholesale shop in Shanghai-street. On admission of the offence the Magistrate sent the defendant to jail for two months.

Last night, as Mr. M. Blake, of the Sanitary Department was driving his motor-car in Queen's Road East, he accidentally knocked down a Chinese woman named Yuen King, living at No. 49, Tang Lung Street, Wanchai. She received slight injuries to her head and was taken to the Government Civil Hospital.

Nearly two years after the occurrence, an echo of an alleged robbery and kidnapping on board a salt junk off the Sa-ku-chau Island, was heard in Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith's Court at Kowloon yesterday, when three Chinese were charged with having been concerned in the affair. Mr. Horace Lo was for the defence. Detective Sub-inspector Dorrington conducted the case for the prosecution. After some formal evidence the hearing was adjourned.

SCOTS CELEBRATE HALLOWE'ENHAGGIS AND GOOD-CHEER AT REUNION DINNER*WHA WOULD'NA FOLLOW US?

Ushered in to the weird music of the pipes (which bear in their minstrelsy all the proud warlike spirit of ancient Scotland) the haggis, brown and steaming, was the motif at last night's 5th Hallowe'en Reunion Dinner of the Scottish Company of the Hong Kong Volunteers.

It was a grave moment in local Scottish history when, to the swirl of the pipes the strange dish was borne on high to the Chieftain, who rewarded the "Stewards" with a "wee sma' drapple" from a bowl, the reverse side of which was carefully licked, that no precious "drapple" might be spilt.

Festivity ruled the board, and the lighted lanterns and thistles and coloured streamers from the roof transformed the severity of the headquarters in which the evening was spent, and an atmosphere of gaiety prevailed.

Following the loyal toast, proposed by Lieut. H. R. Forsyth, Mr. G. McLeod entertained the gathering with "McGregor Shall Flourish," which was accorded vociferous applause.

Toasting "The Visitors," Lieut. H. R. Forsyth paid tribute to the assistance rendered to the Scottish Company by the 2nd Bn. K.O.S.B., and referred, in humorous vein, to the occasion on which the Volunteers and the Regulars mounted guard over "Edinburgh Castle" in the Grand Tattoo when, according to the words of the speaker, "they swayed together." (Laughter).

Pithy Stories

Mr. E. Sutherland recorded three pithy stories, the best being a story related by "Duggie" Grant, the Commander of the London Scottish, who was in frequent conflict with Colonel Clouse during the course of after-dinner speeches. At one convivial gathering "Duggie" related that Clouse was detailed to capture one particular village during the Great War, while "Duggie" was ordered to capture another.

Owing to a mistake in certain quarters each captured the other's village.

Relating the incidents at a dinner in London some time afterwards, Colonel Clouse remarked, "In the village 'Duggie' was detailed to capture, there were 14 machine-guns placed. Quick as a flash, 'Duggie' replied, 'And in the village the Colonel was detailed to capture, there were four women!'" (Laughter).

"Young Scotland"

Replying to the toast "The Visitors," Mr. A. H. Ferguson thanked the Company for the entertainment they had provided and made an earnest appeal for "Young Scotland" sent to the Colony, to fill the ranks of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps. The Company had proved a useful adjunct to the St. Andrew's Society.

The speaker went on to say that they greatly regretted the impending departure of the 2nd K.O.S.B. He did not know if a Scottish Battalion would relieve them, but even if the reverse was the case, the Volunteers owed much to their comrades of the regular force. (Hear, hear).

Personal Contact

The cry of the Scottish Company should be "Follow us—wha would'na follow us?" It was only by personal contact and relationship with their friends of the regular service that the Scottish Company—of the Volunteers—had learned that, while keen and intensive training was a vital necessity to complete efficiency, they could be useful to the Regular force.

"Don't Help the Bear!"

Major Craik, the Officer Commanding the 2nd Battalion K.O.S.B., related the story of the Naval Officer marooned on an iceberg with a Polar bear as a companion and a broken ear as a weapon.

"Lord," prayed the Son of the Sea, "Don't help the bear and you will see a damned good fight!" (Laughter).

From a selfish point of view, said the speaker, he would say that the more proficient the Volunteers became the more the Regulars would rejoice because they would be more able to help the Regulars in time of trouble. (Laughter and applause).

In conclusion, the speaker made an earnest appeal to young Scotsmen in the Colony to support the Volunteers and swell the ranks of the Scottish Company in particular.

The Artists

Mr. McLeod gave other excerpts from his repertoire and Mr. V. C. Leung proclaimed in song that, "When a man's thirty-five he's too old to be young and too young to be old." Mr. D. Harvey with a ukulele sang "Her Man" and Mr. G. V. True ventured two or three items on the piano-forte in a creditable manner.

CRINOLINE WAGER

Miss Mary Waters, the 21-year-old daughter of a South Wiltshire farmer, won a £5 wager by walking through the crowded streets of Salisbury on market day wearing her grandmother's early Victorian crinoline wedding dress and poke bonnet.

Three years ago when a friend of the family learned that Miss Waters presided over her birthday party in her grandmother's wedding dress he challenged her to wear it through High Street and Silver Street, Salisbury.

He gave his wife a lecture on economy. It impressed her so much that he has had to give up smoking.

P'RAPS —P'RAPS NOT!

Circus Manager: "What's wrong now?"

Indiarubber Man: "Every time the strong man writes a letter he uses me to rub out the mistakes."

Assistant: "That hat makes you look ten years younger."

Middle-aged lady: "Then it won't do. When I take it off I shall look ten years older."

Gambler (wrathfully): "This is the second time you've served me with meat that ought to be buried! What do you mean by it?"

Waiter: "Well, they told me that nothing pleased you more than high steaks."

Little Doris was being reprimanded by her mother for a continual course of misconduct. "Don't you know, Doris," she said, "that if you keep on doing so many naughty things your children will be naughty, too?"

"Oh, mother," returned the youngster, "now you've given yourself away!"

A married couple at the boarding-house bought their own provisions. A sugar basin, containing lump sugar, was put on the table night and morning, and the contents gradually disappeared.

"Shall I get you some more?" inquired the landlady.

"It doesn't matter," returned the husband. "We neither of us take it!"

A new man came and took over the correspondence department of a certain well-known Scottish firm, and he was surprised to find the greater part of his new quarters filled with stacks upon stacks of faded and dusty files—the accumulation of many years and much of which was useless.

As he needed the space he at once wrote to the head office of the firm, and asked whether the files of ancient letters and documents could be destroyed or otherwise disposed of and in due course he received a reply thus: "Burn them by all means, but before doing so please see that duplicates are made of them."

During the scripture lesson there occurred a passage from the Bible including the words, "Bread to eat and talmint to put on." To these at length the teacher came in her valiant struggle towards elucidation.

"Now," she said, "can any one tell me what that means?"

Dead silence.

"Well," she persisted, "does any one know what the first part means—bread to eat?"

The class was encouraged to intimate that it did indeed understand the significance of something to eat.

"Come now," said the teacher, "surely some one can tell me what 'talmint to put on' means?"

After a pause, a little girl's hand shot up. "Please, miss," she ventured, "something to put on the bread—like dripping."

TEN YEARS AGO

[From the "China Mail,"
November 1, 1919.]

To-day's dollar is 4/5 7-10.

Mr. N. L. Smith's appointment as Assistant Postmaster-General is gazetted.

Cotton Piece Goods and Fancy Cotton Goods.—It is satisfactory to report a very firm and advancing Home market. Record prices are demanded for everything, so that the phenomenally high exchange does not make dealers' bargains look dear, considering to-day's replacing values.

The Superintendent of the local Cable Company has notified us. His associates' "explanation" that the instruction to cancel certain telegrams was issued to the other papers, "too late to be effective" is withdrawn, and the Superintendent himself now assures us that the instructions to the papers were sent out simultaneously, as we said they should have been. He compliments the "China Mail" on being the only one of the two evening papers to "play the game." Our readers did not get those telegrams until 24 hours afterwards, which we regret; but they have the satisfaction of knowing that when they did get them, they got them honourably.

Now in spite of the inadequacy of the water power, the drainage system is at present being installed at a private house on the Peak, the pipes are said to be six inches so that if the system is universally adopted later, this will have to be relaid. One trembles to think of the condition of these pipes, and the adjacent houses, if the water supply is so bad that it cannot even meet present needs—in any case ratepayers protest emphatically at the favoritism shown to people who have influence and know how to use it.

EXTRALITY SCHEME

Professor Shotwell's Suggested Solution

THE REMEDY

China Needs Larger Concept Of Legal Reform

READY-MADE CODES.

Kyoto, Yesterday.

The American Delegation to the Pacific Relations Conference distributed a paper on extraterritoriality in China, by Professor J. T. Shotwell, a member of their delegation. It will form one of the bases of the discussion when the subject of China's foreign relations comes up for consideration in the course of the next few days.

After pointing out that the recent British and American replies to the Chinese Note on extraterritoriality narrowed the issue down to dissatisfaction with the Chinese judicial system, Professor Shotwell's paper tackles the problem and offers the "suggested solution."

THE REMEDY

The remedy lies, he says, in a more enlarged conception by China of legal reform. Ready-made codes cannot but prove incomplete and inadequate. Neither European nations nor the United States depended upon the ready-made codes, for their present systems were evolved slowly and according to changing experience.

China's system should therefore be more than a code. The juristic claims of Foreigners should be met not as a condition of their renunciation of extraterritoriality but as a natural completion of China's own legal reform.

Upon notification by China to the Powers of the inauguration of this enlarged reform negotiations might proceed towards the final point of a formal renunciation by the Powers of extraterritoriality.

Special Courts
Professor Shotwell then proceeds to outline, very generally, a legal system which might be adopted, experimentally for an interval of five or ten years, after which the whole question of extraterritoriality could be examined.

He proposes that a number of special courts in half-a-dozen places, including Shanghai, Canton, Hankow, Tientsin and at least one court of appeal be set up. These courts should be for Foreigners and Chinese alike. The term "courts" is used to indicate a complete unit for the administration of justice.

It involves articulation with the adequate measures for police support and enforcement of the law, including a satisfactory adjustment with the political authorities, both local and central, with some provision for appeal.

China to Appoint Judges
"China would have the right to appoint judges or judicial consultants responsible for the administration of these courts, but the choice might be limited to a selection from a panel of experts nominated either by the League of Nations' World Court (whereof China is a member) or by the Hague Court of Arbitration. But this panel should be drawn up from lists prepared by the law associations of the countries concerned, in some agreed proportion.

The final nomination would be made regardless of nationality. The World Court would fix the salaries and conditions and payment for the upkeep of these special courts, this arrangement

BURMA'S LEPROSY SCOURGE

GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING SEVERAL PROPOSALS

OFFICIAL SCHEME

Measures to deal with leprosy in Burma have been engaging the attention of the Local Government for some considerable time.

Various methods of treatment were adopted and no opinion has so far been advanced with regard to their efficacy, says the Triennial report of Hospitals and Dispensaries for the years 1926-28. It is important that a method of treatment that is recognised as effective should be standardized and steps are being taken to this end.

The measures to deal with leprosy consist at present of treatment (i) in voluntary Leprosy Asylums, (ii) Government Wards attached to these asylums and (iii) generally in all hospitals as outpatients. There are five Leprosy Asylums in Burma, of which one is in the Federated Shan States; also a special Leprosy Clinic at the General Hospital, Rangoon, which was opened in 1926 which costs Government about Rs. 2,500 per annum and another at Monywa opened on March 1, 1927 towards which Government makes a contribution of Rs. 5,600 per annum. At Monywa there is also a Leprosy Colony managed by a Committee composed of the Civil Surgeon and certain local residents.

Dr. Peacock has opened a Skin Clinic at Mandalay for the out-door treatment of Leprosy.

Cost To Government
The cost to Government, by way of payment of maintenance charges and other necessary expenditure for the four asylums in the Province, in the last three financial years were Rs. 35,313, Rs. 45,660, and Rs. 50,620 respectively. In addition to this, the expenditure on additional wards and other works, and improvements in these asylums for these years from Provincial Funds were Rs. 29,982, Rs. 24,696 and Rs. 56,290 respectively.

The whole subject of Government policy with regard to leprosy was reviewed in 1928 by a Committee composed of the Inspector-General of Health and Director of Pasteur Institute. The Committee has drawn up definite proposals which are at present under the consideration of Government. The proposals outlined recommend:—

The formation of a permanent official Committee composed of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Director of Public Health and Director of Pasteur Institute.

Substitution of what is known as "Propaganda Treatment Survey Centres" for Asylum segregation.

Discontinuing further expenditure on Asylum construction.

Placing treatment directly under the Advisory control of the official Committee.

MYSTERIES OF THE UPPER AIR

CONFERENCE OF EMPIRE METEOROLOGISTS

THE WEATHER

HONG KONG REPRESENTED WITH THE COLONIES

The growing movement amongst Empire countries towards co-operation in problems of agricultural research should receive a further impetus from the meetings of the Conference of Empire Meteorologists, held in London recently, and attended by delegates and observers from Hong Kong, 17 Colonies, India, Egypt, and 80 representatives from the three Home countries.

The Agricultural Section of the Conference met under the auspices of the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Meteorological Office and the Empire Marketing Board. Sir Napier Shaw presided.

The discussions, which covered a wide range of subjects, turned chiefly on what kind of weather knowledge could be made most useful to agriculture, and in what directions co-operation between meteorological and agricultural workers throughout the Empire is desirable.

EXPERIMENTAL STATIONS
The proceedings, which included two days of visits to experimental stations where a practical study is being made of the relation of weather to growing crops; occupied six days.

The discussions dealt with such varied subjects as education and experimental work, the exchange of information, the effect of frost on fruit, the fluctuations in the numbers of wild rodents such as mice, lemmings, rabbits, and certain fur-bearing animals, the effect of weather on the insect and fungous pests of plants and the use of weather knowledge to forecast the yield of crops.

Resolutions were adopted, calling for further work on all these problems.

Steps to develop instruction both in pure meteorology and in agricultural meteorology were recommended, the first in the national systems of education throughout the Empire, and the second in the Agricultural Colleges and farm schools.

The suggestion was strongly supported that no agricultural experiments should be carried on without the details of the accompanying weather being recorded.

WEATHER RESEARCH
The Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries in London was asked to act as a clearing centre to focus the results of agricultural meteorological research throughout the world and to distribute the information to both agricultural and meteorological workers throughout the Empire.

An important set of recommendations related to the effect of frost and of other factors on the growth and cropping of fruit and its resistance to disease and pests.

Fruit surveys throughout the Empire to solve these problems were recommended as well as the testing of the susceptibility of the chief commercial varieties of fruit to frost damage.

MICRO-CLIMATIC
The Agricultural members of the Conference were very desirous of the "micro-climatic" conditions of their crops and pests being investigated, and the Conference asked meteorologists to assist agriculturalists by devising instruments and methods to measure "micro-climatic" conditions within a growing crop for example, or inside a rat run.

Perhaps the most important resolution on pests and diseases of plants was that recommending the prosecution of research into the effect of weather on these pests and diseases, and what forecasts of outbreaks could be made and the farmer and the fruit-grower warned in good time.

THE UPPER AIR
Other resolutions on this subject dealt with the insects and fungous spores present in the upper air and their distribution by the wind, and research into the effect of pressure, light and the colour of insects, on their development, was also advocated.

Lastly, it was recommended that efforts should be made to carry further the work already accomplished for the utilization of weather data in the forecasting of crop yields.

The subject of agricultural meteorology will be further considered at the next Imperial Agricultural Research Conference, which is to be held in Australia and New Zealand in 1932.

Ralph Forbes, and Ethel Wales are all the supporting cast.

An International News Reel and a Hal Roach Comedy add to the entertainment.

KEEN CRITICISM

London, October 10.

The conduct of the English football players in the recent tour in South Africa has been made the subject for criticism by several officials who allege that the Englishmen looked at the tour only for what they could get out of it. The crux of the question appears to be an ambiguously worded cable from the English authorities which is interpreted in South Africa to mean they are not liable for "professionals" wages during the tour as in 1920, whereas the English Association, as in the cases of Australia and Canada, now charge these to the countries concerned.

Thus an additional £1,600 had to be eked out of the tour for which all arrangements had been made. The result was that the tour seems to have been financially embarrassed from the start. This caused much bitterness in South Africa and also led to the resignation of the English Executive.

The South African manager says his life was a nightmare for the last ten days of the tour.

English authorities which is interpreted in South Africa to mean they are not liable for "professionals" wages during the tour as in 1920, whereas the English Association, as in the cases of Australia and Canada, now charge these to the countries concerned.

The "Cape Times" critic says the English Association's conduct in "preaching the Gospel of 'Soccer' while driving such a hard bargain" needs explanation.

Mr. French, President of the South African Football Association has cabled to the latter's representative on the English Council in humble terms, regretting the bad taste of South African criticisms and practically demanding Treasurer Bayley's resignation. Bayley says he has no intention of resigning, so the storm centre seems to have shifted to South Africa.

The "Daily Express" to-day calls for an adequate explanation from the Football Association.

The abolition of the street lamp-post was foreshadowed at the conference of public lighting engineers at Bournemouth by Mr. J. S. Dow. Referring to the growth of the illumination of business premises by "canopies," flood-lighting, and signs, he said one could conceive in the future streets lined by luminous light-faced buildings where the intrusion of lamp-posts would seem an absurdity.

What did the doctor say?" asked her husband.
"Not much. He asked me to put out my tongue."
"Yes?"
"And he said, 'Overworked.'"
"Ah! Then you'll have to give it a rest, my dear. That doctor knows his business."

MUSHROOM COMPANIES

The establishment of mushroom companies under the weaker State laws since the War has brought the question of a uniform Commonwealth control into the sphere of practical politics. This officer will have powers akin to those exercised by the Commonwealth Industrial Commissioner. A deposit of £20,000 will be required from every company requiring registration. Complete accounts of every company must be lodged with the Registrar at periodical intervals, and he is given power to verify figures and valuations contained in such statements.

PROOF OF AGE

The bill makes legal proof of age of a policy holder necessary within one year. If any premium is accepted for a second year, this shall be construed as an admission of age by the insuring company, and the question of the age of the policy-holder cannot be raised later. The bill in general makes the practice of the best managed offices binding on all.

LOCAL FOOTBALL GOSSIP

REVIEW OF THE PAST WEEK'S GAMES

NOTES FOR TO-MORROW

[By "Roamer"]

Since writing last week's notes the Council of the Football Association have awarded two points to the K.O.S.B. first team and to R.A.M.C. These are in respect of the fixtures against Police and R.A. respectively when the latter teams failed to put in an appearance. The only first division match to take place on Wednesday last was between K.O.S.B. and Navy when the teams shared the points. The Borderers now hold a lead of four points over their nearest rivals, the Somersets, but the latter have three matches in hand so that the position is quite likely to be reversed before long.

Unbeaten Records

Last Saturday's games brought little or no change in the positions of the first division clubs in the League Table. K.O.S.B., Somersets and Kowloon still maintain an unbeaten record, while Police, Recreio and St. Josephs are still without a point. In the Junior Section the Borderers increased their prospects of winning the championship by a smart win over Chinese "A" at the Stadium, and they were also successful over University on Wednesday. South China "A" are now the only other team with full points. At the other end of the table R.A.M.C. have moved up as the result of last week's draw against the Club and also on account of the points they have received in respect of their abandoned match with R.A. Ewo have still to open their account, while University have so far only managed to collect one point.

Great Struggles

To-morrow's matches should produce some great struggles and possibly a few surprises. The principal attractions in the senior division are the meeting of K.O.S.B. and Kowloon at Sookumpoo, and Athletic versus Somersets at the Stadium.

The former game should attract a large crowd and the result appears very open. Neither team were at their best last Saturday, but the advantage of playing on their own ground will probably turn the scale in the Borderers' favour, and I fancy them to win by a narrow margin. The Somersets have a big task on the Athletic enclosure, but they have been playing so consistently this season that I expect them to capture at least one point. Navy entertain the Gunners at Caroline Hill and will probably win, while Police should capture their first points of the season at the expense of St. Josephs on the latter's ground at Happy Valley. The other senior game is at King's Park, where Recreio are at home to South China. The latter made a good show against the Police last week and should win with ease, but Recreio will be incited to making great efforts and the advantage of ground may swing the pendulum in their favour.

Among the Juniors

In the Junior section the best fixture will probably be South China "A" versus Navy at Caroline Hill. The latter will have to go all out if they are to lower the South China colours, and provided the home team swing the ball about instead of adopting close passing tactics they will lead the sailors a lively dance. A draw seems the most likely result of the match. The Borderers are at home to Recreio and will in all probability run out substantial winners. Somersets should account for Eastern at Chatham Road, although the latter are by no means to be despised. A local Derby takes place at the Stadium where Chinese "A" entertain South China "B" and here again the home team will be fancied to take full points. Other likely winners are Chinese "B" in their match with Club reserves, and R.A. in their encounter with University. R.A.M.C. should take a point from Kowloon on the latter's ground. To-morrow's full programme and League Tables to date are appended.

Mrs. Roger Culver Tredwell has kindly consented to distribute the prizes.

I used to pray as a schoolboy after this fashion:—"And—Oh, please make Lancashire put Yorkshire out for 53 (less if possible) at Bramall Lane to-morrow, and make O Lord, Brearley get seven wickets for 33 and George Hirst one (or two if you like, Lord) for 97...." There is not a football club in the country which would refuse to allow athletes, selected by their district or county association for extensive training, to make use of the facilities available at the football grounds.—A. W. Turner, Tottenham Hotspur F.C. secretary.

Radio Beauty Avoids Slimness

Lovely eighteen-year-old Olive Shea, selected as the most beautiful radio artist in America, and weighing a slim 110 pounds, says she is anxious to become plump. The girl, who has posed for James Montgomery Flagg, asserted: "You know, style is changing in looks. Slimness may be all right now, but plumpness is coming in. I wish I were a little 'stouter' . . . really." If Olive is disappointed with her appearance radio land is not.

OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

CHINA NEWS, LOCAL NEWS
and all the NEWS.

The Weekly paper that saves you the trouble of writing Home.

Much of importance has occurred in Hong Kong this week so that, as a natural consequence, the "Overland China Mail" comes out once more full of good reading matter.

H.E. the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi) has returned to the Colony. An unusually large quota of new legislation—on topics of interest to Hong Kong and elsewhere has been brought up in Council. Many social and sports events have taken place. There have been fatal disasters in the Fighting Services. In fact, many more items could be picked at random; but justice to the publication can only be done by perusing the "Overland," which is the only weekly news budget in Hong Kong with pictures.

China has again been in the forefront, what with the protracted trouble with Russia and the outbreak of internal war in more provinces than one. What is happening is both recorded and explained for the benefit of the foreigner, who often finds difficulty in comprehending Chinese affairs. The matter in the "Overland" is written specially so that non-Chinese can understand.

Be certain to send a copy to your folks and friends at Home. It will be highly appreciated.

Letters to relatives and friends in other parts of the world frequently fail to be written even by the most ardent correspondents. It is a kindly thought, therefore, to ensure that those away from the Colony, or folks at Home, should have an unfailing supply of Hong Kong and China news every week—by means of a subscription to the "Overland China Mail."

Without any trouble of packing and worrying about the Post Office on your part, and at a one-and-only cost of H.K.$3.75 for three months, the "Overland China Mail" will be sent Home for you every week, catching the mail regularly. It contains just the news, features and pictures from the daily "China Mail" that make a studied appeal to people with any interest whatsoever in Hong Kong, and many letters testify to the keen pleasure and interest its weekly arrival brings.

For your folks at Home to receive this weekly budget, or to keep yourself posted with affairs during your absence, all that you have to do is to drop a bit to the "Overland China Mail."

The word "Overland" is a reminder of the experience behind the production, it having been published since the early days of the Colony, to be sent OVERLAND because there was no Suez Canal, and that was the quickest route by which to get mail Home. In the march of time the "Overland China Mail" has become the only weekly news budget which has pictures. It is made just to suit requirements, as it has done all along. What more could be desired?

LAWRENCE TIBBETT

(By Dorothy Herzog.)

Hollywood, Calif., September 15.—I've been traipsing around the Metro lot most of the day. Tried to get away from the Lawrence Tibbett set but just kept being magnetized back there. He was singin'. The extras were sneaking over from other sets to hear him. Ten dollars in New York, nothing in Hollywood if you're a favourite with the gate-man. What a hand they gave him, and they seldom give hands in this city. I tell you that set has crept up to second place in popularity. Next to Marion Davies.

In between songs they were tellin' stories 'bout him; for instance:

He met Mike Newman, the showman who gave him his first public chance to warble at Grauman's old million dollar theatre.

"Hello, Mike. You owe me some money."

"How's that?"

"You've been telling everybody you meet you paid me fifteen dollars for every time I sang for you. It was only ten. Hand over the balance."

Nils Asther who has the dressing room next to the singer can't get over the way a guy can drown out the sound of a shower bath by singin' Paggiacci.

Josephine Dunn

pounds lost and Olive Borden by sticking to her opinions. Now comes the case of Edmund Lowe. His contract was up. He wanted more dough like most of us humans. Fox wasn't so optimistic. So Eddie went off with his make-up box under his arm and posted a sign on his door "I'm free lancing."

Gosh, he had to hire a friend of his wife's (Lilyan Tashman) to answer the calls for him. He signed with Pathé for one picture at $5,000 per and another for—

Then Fox called "him back. They'd heard about that telephone business."

"Much water has flowed under my bridge since I last talked with you, gentlemen."

"We'll make it flow faster" or similar words.

So when he's through with the pictures he'd already contracted, he'll put his box under his arm and go back to papa at more than he originally demanded!

WILLARD MACK'S WIVES!

They tell this one on Willard Mack who produces and writes and supervises and does all the high-brow things a fellow can do for Metro.

He came home late one night. Very late.

"Where have you been?" demanded the missus.

THE AMAZING STORY OF TRULY SHATTUCK

Once Famous Actress Is Arrested For Shoplifting

Once her name appeared in bright lights. Fame and fortune favoured her but to-day she is poverty stricken and desperate.

That is the story disclosed in a Chicago police court, when Truly Shattuck, once beautiful actress, was arrested for stealing a $16.50 dress from a department store.

"I don't know why I did it," she cried at Detective Headquarters.

"I've had no work for three months. They told me my vaudeville skit wouldn't go over any more. I've tramped the streets looking for work. I've read the want ads. The green dress looked so pretty, and it was only $16.50—but I didn't have the $16.50."

In her poverty she was too proud to appeal to friends, but a friend, a restaurant owner, heard of her arrest and posted bond for her.

"A woman must dress if she wants to work," the fifty-four-year-old actress said. "And I did need work so badly. But, oh, the shame of it! What a position for one who has shaken hands with a King."

Miss Shattuck said she was broke. The rent on her lodging house room was past due. The one time star of first magnitude had lost its light behind the clouds of marching years.

Her vaudeville skit drew its last half-hearted, scattered applause on the kerosene circuit several months ago. Then she worked as a waitress, a seamstress. She lost these jobs. No one seemed to want to employ the woman who had entertained two continents and who had smiled down from the cinema screen via-a-vis with Fairbanks, McLean Valentino and Sydney Chaplin. Such is life when fate intervenes.

"Out celebrating one of my wedding anniversaries," Mack answered.

They don't tell which one, however. Perhaps it was Maude Leone, number one or Marjorie Rambeau, number two, or Pauline Frederick, number three. It couldn't have been Beatrice Banyard, the present incumbent, we take it.

Which reminds us that Mack was a good friend of Nat Goodwin's who went seven times to the altar until Allan Dale, critic, complained because Nat didn't invite him to one of his wedding's.

MUSICAL CULTURE

Hollywood isn't as professionally narrow as it was. We're beginning to get educated to opera singers, musicians, song writers and stage folk. Time was—and that not so long ago—when the flicker debutante from another sphere of activity was a complete stranger. When Joseph Cawthorne, a Broadway favourite of many a decade, first came to the filmopolis, he had to spell his name for those whose job it was to know it. The late stage star, William H. Crane, fared even worse. He was always being confused with Ward Crane. He was even asked by a harassed casting director if he had had any acting experience. Which burned up Mr. Crane sufficiently to necessitate a rushed dose of bicarbonate of soda.

INDIAN SERGEANT & CAR DRIVER

LOITERING CHARGE AT CANTON WHARF

DRIVERS WHO CHANGE CARS

An Indian Police Sergeant this morning charged a Chinese motor car driver before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy, with loitering near the Canton wharf whilst driving a public car at 11.05 p.m., on October 17.

The defendant produced the Indian owner of the car who said that defendant was not his driver.

The Indian Sergeant was definite in his identification of the defendant, remarking that he knew him well.

Touting For Passengers
The Sergeant said that defendant drove the car slowly up and down in front of the entrance to the wharf just as the passengers were coming off the night boat.

In spite of the fact that the Sergeant knew his licence number, defendant persisted in his denial, saying that he had never driven an Indian owned car.

Defendant, who said he was "very frightened," added that he had driven No. 394 car regularly for over three months, but that was a long time ago.

Change Cars
The Indian owner who had said that defendant was not his driver admitted to the Magistrate that he was aware that Chinese drivers did sometimes change cars.

Remarking that he had no reason to disbelieve the Indian Sergeant, who had been very determined, and that on his part defendant had been very vague in accounting for his movements, Mr. Hamilton convicted.

After defendant's record had been produced showing that he had been several times convicted, his Worship decided to adjourn the case sine die for the matter to be taken to the notice of the C.S.P., his Worship remarking: "He is one of those wanderers who goes from car to car. Ask the C.S.P. if he will cancel his licence."

30 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION

Tin Cheung, the master of a junk, was at the Kowloon Magistracy to-day before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith with unlawfully having on his trading junk two rifles and 33 rounds of ammunition.

The defendant admitted the charge.

His Worship was told by Sergt. Galvin that the rifles were of a Chinese make, and were not much good.

The defendant said that he needed the arms on board for the purpose of safety.

His Worship imposed a fine of $10 and ordered the return of the rifles and ammunition to the defendant.

MAN WHO DISLIKED TO BE KEPT WAITING

"DANGEROUS IMPLEMENT"

"Well there is not the slightest doubt that you started the fight," said Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith to a Chinese who was charged at the Kowloon Magistracy to-day with assaulting a Chinese woman living at 65, Tin Lui Street, Shamshuipo.

It was stated that the defendant, who was a fellow lodger of the complainant's, had come home and on knocking at the front door nobody answered. He waited for 15 minutes, till complainant finally opened the door.

The defendant was, of course, very angry and heated words led to blows. The defendant picked up an axe and struck the woman on the arm.

His Worship, in fining the defendant $3 with the option of five days' jail, remarked that it was very dangerous to use such an implement.

Both parties were bound over to keep the peace for six months.

TRESPASSING

Curiosity Ends in Fine of a Youth

"A constable has been placed there on special duty" was the remark made by Inspector F. Hoare at the Kowloon Magistracy to-day in a case in which a Hakkia man, 19 years of age, was charged before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, with trespassing on the Military Rifle Range, on the Tai Po Road, Shamshuipo Barracks.

The defendant said he came across a heap of bullets which he for curiosity picked up, but to his surprise he was promptly arrested.

Sacks Torn
Inspector Hoare said that the military had to replace about 500 sacks since May last, owing to boys tearing them up to extract the bullets fired by the troops.

His Worship fined the defendant $3 or five days' jail.

The defendant (surprised): Three dollars?

His Worship (to the Interpreter): Why? Does he think it is too little?
